

2022 Moving into the New Greenhouse

With the Occupancy Permit approved in May 2022, the process began to equip and move into the new greenhouse.

The new plant benches had to be assembled from hundreds of parts.

The pot inventory had to be sorted and moved to shelving in the storage area to the north of the building.

The shade cloth had been split into two 10 foot by 20 foot sections and was moved to the south side of the greenhouse.

Lots of other items like the repurposed former plant benches, cinder blocks, and various pieces of inventory had to find new locations.

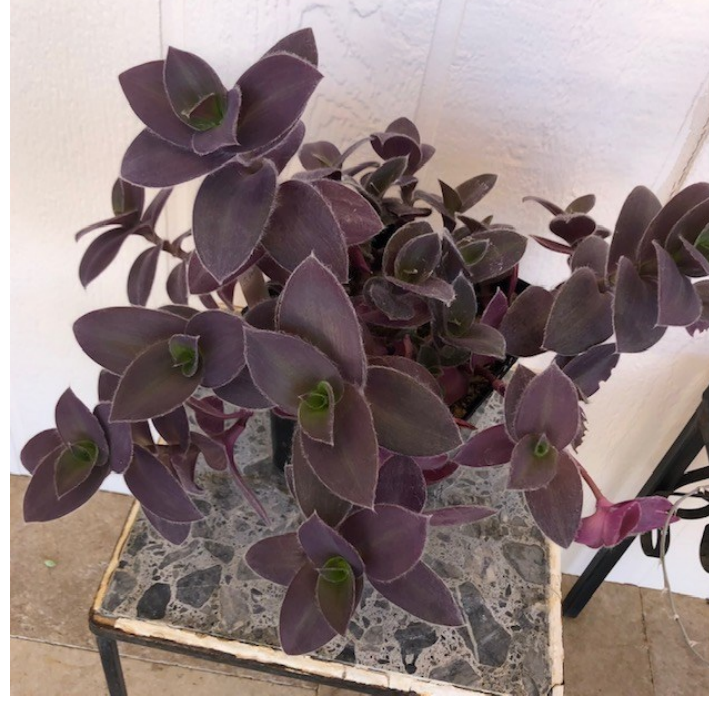

Club members Tom Cavanagh and Sue assemble a new planting bench.

Allison and Carol Houtkooper finish work on a new planting bench.

Once the construction was complete, it is time to move the shade cloth from one side of the courtyard to the other side near the new greenhouse.

As soon as the larger plants arrive in the "Alley," they are covered with shade cloth to protect them from the brutal sunshine.

Everyone has to be quite careful to move at the same speed and use extra care as they move through and over the two retention ponds.

The shade cloth was split into two ten foot by twenty foot pieces before moving to the side of the new greenhouse.

Moving the shade cloth is a team effort with one person on each post and a couple others supervising to make sure the unit is high enough to clear the plants and lamp posts along the way.

Hundreds of post are sorted and put away in the storage area on the side of the greenhouse.
