

2024 January New Year Brings New Actions

2024 began with cooler than normal temperatures, but the club members kept warm by being busy,

In the first part of January, the Education Committee manned a table at the SCWRC’s annual Newcomers event. They handed out many club brochures and answered numerous questions about desert gardening

The Botanical Garden crew covered the tips of many plant tops with Styrofoam cups to prevent frost damage. They continued to expand the garden and maintain the plants already there.

As Co-Chairs of the Education Committee, Mary Beth Kunze and LiAnn Hathaway meet many prospective new members at the Newcomers event.

A dish garden is offered in a free drawing. A large display board created by Mary Beth Kunze gave visitors a taste of the SCW Desert Garden Club’s activities.

Professional arborist Helen Shadowens works on trimming back some of the trees in the Botanical Garden.
